Director of Works Informs Visitors That State Buildings Must Conform to Landscape Effects.

The Kansas Commission to the World's Fair visited St. Louis yesterday to talk with the Exposition management regarding the participation of the State.

William F. Lorimer of Chicago, Congressman from the Third District of Illinois, was another visitor. He accompanied Architect Watson of the Illinois World's Fair Com-

Both parties inspected the general location of the State buildings on the wooded plateau of the site. Director of Works Taylor informed the Kansans and the Illinois Congressman that he would not be able to essign definite sites for State buildings, before the allotment ceremonies on Septem-ber 30.

Mr. Taylor added that for purposes of architectural beauty and landscape effect, it would be necessary to consider the sizes of the various State buildings in alloting the

APPEALS TO POLICE

Nine-Year-Old Charles Kunschner Requests Chicago Authorities to Locate His Lost Father.

A letter from little Charlie Kunschner, 9 years old, of No. 4613 Easton avenue, to his father, Gustavus Kunschner, who went to Chicago two weeks ago on business and became sick, has set the police of Chicago to working with unusual energy to find Kunschner's address.

When Kunschner became ill he wrote to his family here, but falled to give his Chicago address.

A few days after his departure from St. Louis Mrs. Kunschner became ill. She wrote to her husband to come home, but the letters went to the general delivery and have not been called for. So the hus-band is in Chicago sick and does not know of his wife's iliness at home.

band is in Chicago sick and does not know of his wife's illness at home.

His mother's sickness and her anxiety about her husband caused the little boy to write this letter to the Chicago police:

Dear Sir: Will you kindly help me find my papa's address. Gust. Kunschner. Papa is gone to Chicago on business. Mamma took very sick and she likes to see him. If you help me find him I'll be your re pacifully little friend.

CHARLLES FRED KUNSCHNER.

On the same page with the letter to the police the child wrote this note to his papa:

My Dear Papa: This is 12 o'clock at night. Mamma is very sick, plea e, please Papa couns. Mamma is very sick, plea e, please Papa couns. Mamma is asking for you all the time. Dear papa, come home and I will be a good boy. There is a letter in the Post Office of Chicago for your. Your little sin. CHARLLE.

The Chicago Sulborities have undertaken to find Kunschner's address, and have enlisted the help of the newspapers.

Kunschner is a humessmaker and has a shop at Euclid and Easton avenues. He has been in poor health for several months, and about six weeks ago went to Chicago for a rest and treatment by an old family physician. He came back much improved apparently, but on a later trip on business connected with his trade, he became sick and wrote home that he would not return until he felt better.

There are four children in the Kunschner family, the oldest of whom is a girl about 15 years.

OPERA FAVORITES WILL RETURN IN ADE SATIRE.

"The Sultan of Sulu" will have its first St. Louis presentation Sunday night, when the Olympic opens its season. This opera is by George Ade, the "Fables in Slang" man, and Alfred G. Wathall, a young composer of Chicago. In the cast are several St. Louis favorites, among them being Maude Lillian Berri, Frank Moulan, Ger-trude Quinlan, Fred Frear, Robert Lett, Bianche Chapman and Charles Giblyn. The piece is credited with an interesting plot, almost a forgotten factor in modern musical drama. Mr. Ade is said to have woven a witty satire around the assimilation of Kiram, the Sulu Sultan, whose coming under the American flag, accompanied by his wives and all his heathen household gods was the subject for much mirth and com-ment when the opera was produced in Chithat he has simply taken the liberty showing what might have happened on that occasion. In his plot he sends an expedition of soldiers, marinea, commercial travelers and Boston schoolma'ams to Sulu to educate the Sultan. An inkling of the humorist's conception may be obtained from the lines of the song rendered on arrival at the Sultan's palace:

Sultan's palace:

We haven't the appearance, goodness knows,
Of plain commercial men;
From a hasty glance you might suppose
We are fractious now and then;
But though we come in war-like guise
And battle-front strayed.
It's all a business enterprise—
We're seeking foreign trade.

The Sultan is told that "the constitution and the cocktail follow the flag." He permits himself to be made a Governor with the understanding that in America "a Governor is the noblest work of the Campaign Committee." He embraces twenty-three ocktatle and waltzee with a being surprised to learn that "anything as pleasant as the waitz could be proper." But when he proposes to make the lady Judge Advocate his wife No. 3, she becomes enraged and grants all his wives a divorce. Ki-ram then goes to prison for failure to pay them alimony. Among the songs to be introduced are "Since I First Met You," "Oh, What a Bump!" "My Sulu Lulu Loo" and "The Old Jay Bird." Jane Kennark, as the heroine of Oulda's novel, "Under Two Flags," is announced to appear at the Century Theater next The play is a dramatization book by Paul M. Potter, also the dramatist of "Trilby." The production will be the same seen here last season, when Blanche Bates appeared as Cigarette. J. H. at Forest Park Highlands, the management has chosen Sig. Alessandro Liberati's milltary and concert band. This organization will give two concerts daily on the vaude-ville stage of the pavilion. The band is composed of fifty musicians and four vocal soloists. The latter are: Cleopatra Vicini, prima donna of the Bagetto Opera Company: Marie Valdes, prima donna contralto from the French Opera Company of New Orleans; Signor Antonio Bagetto, tenor of the Bagetto Opera Company, and M. Bernard Begue, barytone of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. At each of the concerts these four soloists will sing. At this season of the year St. Louis amusement patrons have always had their Exposition band. This is the first year in twenty that they have falled to enjoy this fall diversion. Accordingly, the Highlands owners concluded that band concerts would

The Delmar Opera Company will produce "The Rounders" farewell week. J. E. Kelly has been especially engaged to play the part of Maginnis Pasha, which was impersonated by Thomas Q. Seabrooke in the original Lederer presentation at the Casino Theater, New York, Frank Blair, who was member of the original company, stage the piece and will impersonate the Duke de Patty du Clam, the roll created by Dan Daly. Josephine Knapp will be seen as Priscilla, the wife, and Mayme Taylor as Thea, the actress.

Edwin Milton Royle, who is playing the Columbia Theater, comes of a distin-guished Missouri family. His father was a District Attorney at the beginning of the Civil War and was afterwards Judge Advocate of Price's army. His mother, Eliza Kirtley Royle, is one of the two honorary vice presidents of the National Federation of Women's Clubs (Mrs. Julia Ward Howe being the other). Mr. Royle's grandfather, Captain Sinclair Kirtley, was a distinguished St. Louis lawyer. Mr. Royle was born in Lexington thirty-five years ago. He was educated at Princeton University and the University of Edinburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Royle (Selena Fetter) will shortly leave vaudeville to return to the legitimate stage under the management of Ben Stern.

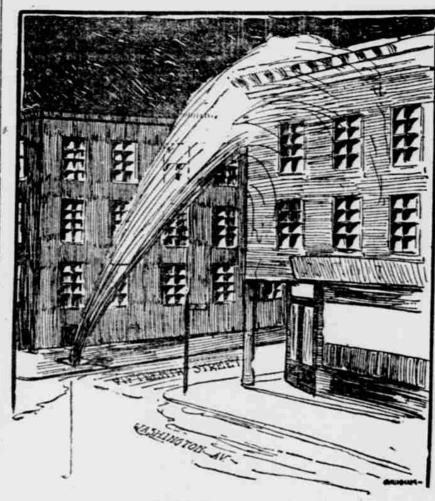

"Sweet Clover," the pastoral play in which Adelaide Thurston appeared last season, comes to the Grand Sunday. Blanche Hall is playing Miss Thurston's part. Otis Thayer is also a member of the company. The comedy was written by the Misses Pauline Phelps and Marion Short. It is being given under the management of Broadhurst and Currie. Gates and Associates Now Ask That a Meeting of the Company Be Ordered.

Denver, Sept. 3.-The United States Circuit Court to-day assumed jurisdiction in the suit of George E. Bartlett for an injunction to restrain the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company from holding its annual election of officers.

The suit was brought in the District Court of this State, and Judge Mullins granted an ex parte injunction causing an indefinite postponement of the election, which was to have been held n this city

Attorneys for John W. Gates and associ-

Attorneys for John W. Gates and associates, who are seeking to gain control of the company, petitioned the Federal court to assume jurisdiction in the case, and the application was to-day granted by Judge H. C. Caldwell.

Counsel for the Gates faction to-day filed a cross-bill in the Bartlett suit asking that a meeting of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company be called by order of the court to be held within forty days.

The petitioners ask that the stock books in New York be closed twenty days before the meeting and a list of stockholders as they appear on the New York books be used as a standard or test to determine who has the right to vote at such meetings. It also is asked that the by-laws of the company as altered and passed at the meeting of July 20, so that the chairman of the Board of Directors may hold an annual meeting and appoint tellers and mespectors of election, be declared void.

No notice has yet been served of any application to the court for a hearing of the matter set out in the bill.

th street and Washington avenue at 9 o'clock night.

Dausch, were drenched with water pouring in the front windows. A crowd soon gathered, and occupants of the deluged building ran about demanding that the water in the main be shut off, and threatening the wason driver with violence. As cars of the Washington avenue lines of the Transit Cempany shot past the point the passengers were sprinkled. The clothes of spectators along the sidewalks were soaked now and again by random sprays and the street soon resembled a turbid pond, the sewers being unable to carry off the rising flood.

At a little before half past 9 B. F. Hart, with a force of employes of the Water Department, arrived and shut off the supply in the main. Then residents thereabouts were alarmed less in the event of a fire they should be past saving. Another anxiety was for water to drink, wash and bathe in. Men and women filled bottles and buckets to carry them through until repairs could be made, and all held councils about damages and their common troubles.

The water in the main was shut off at 10 o'clock, and after half an hour the water in the street had run off. The total damase was estimated at $400, besides that to the garments of onlookers.

At to-night's session a report of the Denver National Sunday School Convention was made by Miss Lottle Edgar, who served in the capacity of delegate for the Washington County Association.

The music, which was a pleasing feature of the convention, was in charge of Miss Elsie Eade, Frank Franzlau, Paul Krushoff, William Reideiberger and Harry Reuter, well-known and popular amateur musicians of this city.

The following township presidents, with their addresses, registered at the association during the day: Miss Mac Key, Ashley; J. E. Haun, Beauchoup; Frank Kelsey, Dubois; J. W. Hake, Hoyleton; George Barton, Irvington; A. McAuley, Lively Grove; W. B. Anderson, Nashville; W. A. McClurkin, Oakdale; Newton McNew, Okawville; Thomas Hutchings, Pilot Knob, and Mrs. Aice Gunn, Richview.

The visitors and delegates are being entertained here to-night by the local Reception Committee. The convention will complete the work with to-morrow's session. and Miss Ella Bowman were married at the bride's home this evening. street.

At 2 p. m. Bader, in the presence of his wife and four children, attempted to take carboile acid, but his wife snatched the phial from him. He left the house and returned at 4:20 p. m. and ate his supper. He then went into the front room. At 5:15 Mrs. Bader was attracted by his groaning. She summoned a doctor and a policeman and he was hurried to the South Side Dispensary.

Sary.

Bader had lately been employed by the Niedringhaus Furniture Company. His wages were small, and his wife, it is said, was compelled to work out to help provide for their children.
